Small-Pox.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.

Bayard has received from the consul general at Montreal, a statement of the number of deaths from small-pox in that city since April 1st as follows: April, 5; May, 13; June, 46. First two weeks of August 45; on May 13th, 100 houses in Montreal contained small-pox placards.

Mercer Estate

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 25.

The Bulletin's Dayton, Ohio, special says: About 200 heirs of the estate of John Mercer, from Springfield, Indianapolis, Pennsylvania and New York, will meet in this city to-morrow, to prove ownership to the immense Mercer estate said to be worth $500,000. John Mercer, during the revolutionary war, inherited an estate near New York which he released to the government, and it only recently has been ascertained that this lease expired in 1876. The supreme court has decided that it belongs to the Mercer heirs.

Murder Mystery

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 25.

The body of a beautiful young girl was found in the river yesterday. The remains were removed to the city undertaker's establishment. There is no clue as to her identity or as to whether she committed suicide or was murdered though the towel which was tied around her head and mouth indicate the latter. Several parties who have missing daughters called, but failed to identify the body.

LATER.—The body to night was identified as that of Mrs. Annie Johnson, of Madison, Ind. The causes which led to her death still remain a mystery.

Report of the President's Illness

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.

The World's Saratoga special says there are reports here of the illness of the President in the retirement of his camp in the Adirondacks. The night before last Dr. Sawyer of An Sable Forks, who has been here for his vacation, received a dispatch from Dr. Ward, the President's only companion. This dispatch said: "Come at once; I want to consult you about a patient; answer at once." The doctor replied that he would go. He is a great friend of Dr. Ward's, and often has been called into a consultation by him. Although the name of the patient was omitted from the dispatch, he said he had no doubt it referred to the President, as Dr. Ward had no one else with him. The President has been growing stout with great rapidity since his inauguration, and has gained 40 pounds. Therapies increase has worried the President and his friends. In addition to this, new-comers to Washington are very subject to malarial attacks, and these attacks are generally developed as soon as the unacclimated leave Washington for a better climate. Pure atmosphere will bring out the seeds of malaria already sown with alarming rapidity. Dr. Sawyer has not returned to Saratoga since he was summoned to join the Presidential party and his continued absence is argued by his friends here to mean something serious as the doctor expressed his intention before leaving to return to Saratoga as soon as possible.

Private Mail Carried by the Colon New York, Aug.

The Sun says: The Pacific Mail

steamship Colon carried out a letter mail, for Central and South America. It was private mail, the United States Postoffice having no hand in it. A clerk in the office of Superintendent Bullep, on the Canal-street pier, was busy all the morning cancelling stamps on the stamped envelopes. This he did with a circular stamp, in red ink, reading: "The Pacific Mail Steamship Co., August 20, 1885. Superintendent's Office." The clerks of business houses waited in a line with great bundles of letters. The cancelling clerk had no weighing scales and the affixing of the proper stamps rested with the senders. Many to make sure, overpaid the postage and others added a fringe of gummed stamps. The clerk said the company took the letters simply to accommodate the public and made no profit. The superintendent of foreign mails at the Postoffice said that the regular mail for South America was forwarded by the way of Kingston, Jamaica. He said the gummed stamps affixed to the letters carried by the Colon represented so much money thrown away. He felt sure that the postal authorities of Central and South America would imitate the example of Cuba and would deny the legitimacy of mails carried in this way. The United States would do so in case its mails were brought in a similar way from other countries. The results would be that the receivers of letters would be required to pay double postage, or the same as if the letters had been forwarded by mail and not prepaid. The imprint of a private seal on the stamp does not cancel it, but an address on a stamped envelope acts as a cancellation. There was 30 cents' worth of stamps on many letters forwarded by the Colon.

General Diven's

CLAYTON, Aug. 25.

On Thursday General and ex-Congressman Alexander S. Diven of Elmira arrived here, and he has since been impressed with the idea that he was to write the life of Gen. Grant, and has been preparing copy for the publishers. He wrote parts of his civil life in black ink, and then, when he wrote of his military career, he used red ink. He declared that the book was to bring $5,000 a copy when finished and in many ways showed that his mind was in a measure unsettled. Diven attended the funeral of General Grant, and it is thought that he suffered a partial sunstroke at that time. He was taken to Elmira yesterday.

The surprise of our citizens was given this morning when Frank F. Fildman was reported killed by Indians in Sonora a short time back. An account of which was given in these columns at the time, came riding into town, with his partners William Gehring and Bill Voswinkel. Of course the sudden appearance of Fildman would not have been so much of surprise had not a colored man from Sonora come in and stated that he had buried the remains of Fildman a few days previous to his arrival. Frank states that he was not molested at all by the Indians, but that they were getting so thick where he was prospecting in the Blue mountains that he thought it was safer to be in Tombstone than where he was and that he and his partners started for this place. He states that the day before he left, the Indians passed within 50 yards of where he was, but as they were coming down the main arroyo and he was in a side arroyo they did not see him. Between here and there he states that the country is full of Indians, but he traveled at night, and did not encounter any of them. We are glad to announce that Frank is still in the land of the living and is as good as a dead man yet. He has been putting in the day shaking hands with his numerous friends, and reading his obituary, as published in THE TOMBSTONE, and in our morning contemporary, something that is not accorded to every man.

We were shown by Mr. Albert Springer, of the Cochise County bank this morning, one of the finest specimens of malachite, that was found recently by Mr. John Prout in one of the caves of the Silver Spring mine. It is about two feet in length and ten inches in height, and eighteen inches in width. It is wonderful how Mr. Prout ever succeeded in taking this specimen out, as it is brittle as glass and is just as fine as spun glass. Mr. Springer stated that Mr. Prout had been offered $100 for the specimen but had refused it. It will shortly be placed on exhibition and none of our citizens should fail to see it.

Will Gault, route agent for Wells, Fargo & Co. arrived in this city to-day from Nogales. He states that heavy rains have fallen on both sides of the line lately, but that the track of the Sonora Limited and N. M. & A. railroads are all clear and in good condition.
